Voters reject both bonds, 3-1

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The "Romulus of the future" died a sudden death yesterday as voters went to the polls to defeat by nearly identical 3-1 margins two bond issues totaling $14.1 million.

The totals were 689-yes to 2394-no votes on a proposed $9.1 million road paving bond which would have raised money to pave every dirt road in the city, and 699-yes to 2346-no votes on a $5 million recreation center construction proposal.

Richard Campbell, the leader of an informal group of citizens known as Grassroots which campaigned against the bond said the vote was "a message to the leaders of the city: hold down the taxes in this recession."

"It proves if a citizen is informed of the impact of potential tax issues, he will vote for the good of the city," he added, after being informed of the election results by The Romulus Roman.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt, who was the chief proponent of the two bond issues, said the decision was "unfortunate for the citizens, but that was their choice."

"It's the large taxpayers — the ones who would have paid 83 percent of the cost of the two proposals — who should rejoice," he said. "It's the people's loss."

The bonding proposals went down to defeat in every precinct in the city and among the absentee voters. Some of the negative vote margins in individual precincts were as high as 9-1 with the narrowest defeat a 2-1 margin.

Campbell, who was at home awaiting news on the election when contacted, said about 12 persons worked at the polls in behalf of the Grassroots effort.

Troutt supporters manned every polling place.

The election also brought out open opposition to the proposals from two mayoral candidates who are running against Troutt in the Sept. 2 primary.

However, Troutt said that the overwhelming defeat was not an omen of his upcoming quest for a second term as mayor.

"I think the economy had a lot to do with the defeat," he added. "I admit it has some effect on the campaign, but it isn't that drastic."

"The main thing is that we proposed a program to the people, and they turned it down."

"It's up to us now to work within the limits of services set by the voters."

Community picnic set --games for everyone

By LUCY WIESEND
Editor of The Romulus Roman

Even though there is a lot of politicking going on in Romulus, residents should be able to attend the first annual Bicentennial Community Picnic and enjoy fun and games ... with no politics involved.

The picnic is sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club and city's Bicentennial Committee, and aside from a picnic this and next year, The Rotary Club plans to carry on the community affair for three years after the nation's 200th birthday.

The picnic is being held from noon to 6 p.m. Aug. 24 at Elmer Johnson Park.

Games - planned to include all ages - will be played and the Rotary will be selling such things as hot dogs, pop, beer, ice cream and pop corn.

To attract as many Romulus residents as possible - approximately 1,000 are expected - the Rotary is planning many activities. For youngsters up to a year in age, a baby contest will be held. Tots from one to two will be involved in a "run to mama contest," and those three to four can participate in a penny scramble. Youngsters from five to six will be able to participate in ball throwing and bubble gum contests, and games such as a sack, foot, hop, skip jump; wheel barrel, and 3-legged races will be held in different age groups such as 7-10, 11-13 and 14-16. Teen-agers over age 17 and up to adults will be able to participate in an egg toss and different races and the women will have a shoe kicking contest available to them.

Two softball games also will be held. From 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. the Romulus Rotary Club will play the Romulus Kiwanis Club, and from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. the Romulus Jaycee Auxiliary will play the girls from City Hall.

As part of the softball tournament, pitting the Rotary against the Kiwanis, a traveling trophy - an 110-year-old butter churn - will go to the winner. The trophy will stay with the winner for one year, until the softball tournament at next year's picnic.

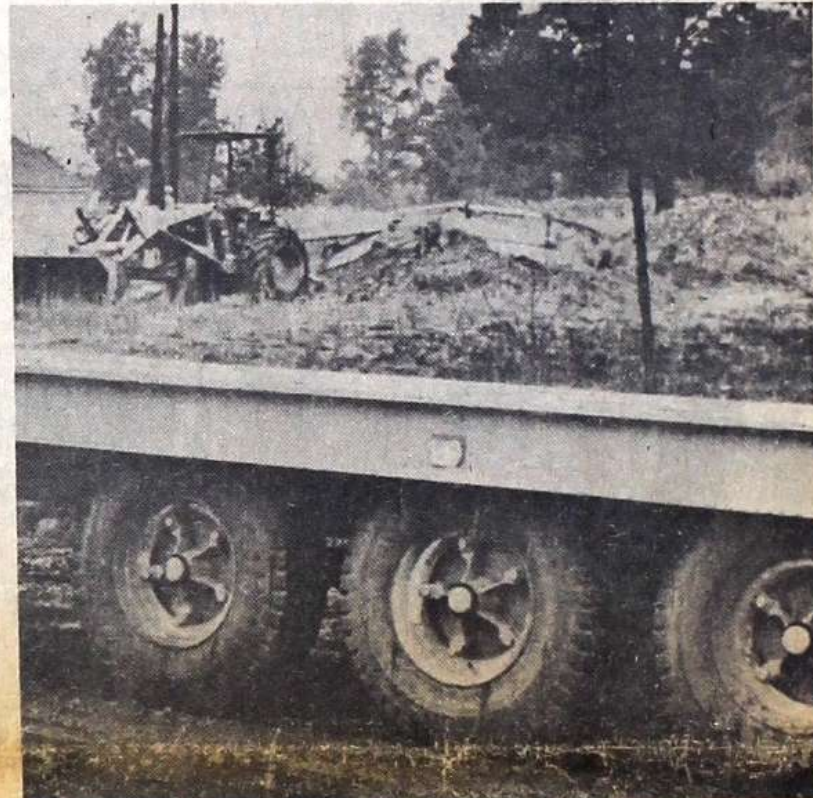

"This is a community-wide picnic," said Doug Baum, chairman of the event. "We'd like to see 1,000 people there. That's why we are offering something for everyone. We have planned a number of different events, hoping to touch every aspect of community life."

Assisting Baum in the Rotary effort are Dave McCortey, co-chairman, and Bob Mach, Jordon Silvey, Vince Makino and Tut Mach.

The Rotarians are handling all the games, with Florence Makino in charge of that effort, Baum added.

The Bicentennial picnic idea did stem from the Bicentennial Committee, but the Rotary has put a lot of work into it, and plan to continue the effort after the nation's Bicentennial next year, Baum said.

He and other planners are inviting all Romulus residents to attend the picnic and to get to know their neighbors from every part of the city.

Clean-up efforts

Efforts are continuing to clean up the debris of the liquid propane gas explosion on the south side of Northline Road between Harrison and Inkster roads. Three homes were destroyed in the ensuing blaze and four others were damaged. Two citizens were taken to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment of injuries caused by the blaze. A third person suffered a heart attack approximately 45 minutes after the blaze began. Fire fighters in Romulus and from surrounding cities spent hours at the site of the blaze and now clean-up efforts are being conducted. As yet, officials of the Sun Oil Co. whose gas lines exploded, could give no reason for the incident. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Issue forum

What's in city's future

One of four candidates running for mayor in Romulus answered The Romulus Roman's question in its election issue forum this week. The Roman asked the mayoral candidates - Mayor Terry L. Troutt, James C. Stewart, Clayton W. Meldrum and Glenn Free. How do you visualize that the City of Romulus should be developed? What do you feel is in store for the community? And if you are elected (re-elected) mayor what would you do to make that dream come true?

In answering the question, Troutt wrote: "I would like to thank The Romulus Roman for the opportunity to express my feelings and hopes for the City of Romulus."

"Although Romulus became a city in 1970, it is approximately 140 years old. In all those years, Romulus' leadership was more prone to politics and partisanship than progress. The error of the past seemed to lack the consideration of future generations of Romulus."

The mayor went on to write: "For Romulus, I foresee a city eventually providing comparable services for its people to that of the City of Dearborn, with administering tax rate because of our industrial potential. We have plans that would raise the state equalized value in the next two years even greater which would mean a further decrease of taxes to our homeowners."

"I envision Romulus, because of its proximity to one of the nation's major airports and the Motor City, some day becoming the major convention center of the midwest."

One other mayoral candidate - Free - handed in an answer to one of the Roman's questions this week, but he answered the wrong question. He responded to the first question address to mayoral candidates which was published July 30.

Apparently Free and some candidates are confused about The Roman's election issue forum, another explanation of it is being published on today's Editorial page.

Committee seeks land for new court building

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Although it may cost local communities as much as $85,000 per year for the next 15 years to build a new 34th District Court building, members of a special committee assigned to finding a site for the new facility are trying to get off without paying land costs.

A special 3-man committee comprised of Belleville Mayor Ellis Amerman, Huron Township Supervisor George Moore and Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer met Friday to discuss the possibility of finding land for a new court from surplus owned by some government agency.

"We're looking for land near the population center of the 34th District," Gollwitzer said. "That would place it along Hannan Road or Huron River Drive near the expressway."

"But we'll settle for a different location if there is land available for the right price."

In addition to the three communities represented on the search committee, the 34th District includes the City of Romulus and Sumpter Township.

The inclusion of three townships in the district is the reason the search committee is seeking free land, according to Gollwitzer.

"Townships have difficulty enough finding money to serve the citizens, without getting too extravagant with building a court," Gollwitzer said. "So, we're out to cut costs wherever we can."

Gollwitzer added that another criterion for the search committee is that the land lies in an area where the architecture isn't too rich for the five communities' construction coffer.

"If we had to match the architecture of the Romulus Civic Center, it would be difficult," Gollwitzer said. "There just isn't enough money available."

"But if a building were built for utility, with an eye toward attractiveness without going into high cost for architecture, it would be ideal."

Plans proposed for the construction of the court call for about an $85,000 yearly cost to be shared by the five communities along with the Wayne County Road Commission during a 15-year mortgage period.

But the means for sharing the cost is up in the air as yet.

Most communities have proposed that payments be made into the court on a "use basis" where each community pays back its share of fines to the courts based on the amount of time that community uses the court prior to each payment.

However, the Belleville contingent to the court committee has proposed that the capital expenditures for the court - the cost of the building - be based on a state equalized value basis, with each community paying its share of the cost for operating the court based on the use basis.

Under the use plan, Romulus would pay 41.7 percent of the court construction, while Van Buren would pay 20.2 percent of the cost, Huron would cover 12.3 percent of the cost, Belleville would cover 12.2 percent of the cost, Sumpter would have 7.9 percent of the cost and the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates Detroit Metropolitan Airport, would cover the rest of the cost.

Under the state equalized value plan proposed by Belleville, the Road Commission's share would be up in the air, but the remaining communities would split the cost with Romulus picking up approximately 50 percent, Van Buren Township 27 percent, Huron Township 10 percent, Sumpter Township 8 percent and Belleville approximately 4 percent.

4-H FAIR Youngsters participate

More than 90,000 residents are expected to attend this year's 29th Annual Wayne County 4-H Fair as more than 2,300 youngsters, who participate in the 4-H program, have entered animals and projects in competition. Judging of various events was scheduled throughout the week until Sunday.

"We've been growing every year, and expect the trend to continue," said Elmer Abbott, president of the 4-H Fair Board.

"This is an outstanding means for residents from the entire area of Wayne County to view what their youth are doing in their spare time," Abbott said. "I can see nothing better than attending the fair, to show the youth that adults really care for their work."

Today's events include the judging of horses, cooking, clothing, dairy products, lambs and beef.

Shows include a goat milking demonstration and a draft horse exhibition.

Admission to the events is free, but it costs $3 per car for a sticker which entitles the owner to enter the fair at will during the week of events.

Stickers are available at the gates on Quirk Road between the north I-94 service drive and Tyler Road.

Abbott said that the 4-H Fair is a tribute to volunteerism in Wayne County.

"We have all volunteers working on the fair, starting from this office," Abbott added. "We all believe in kids, and want to do the most we can for them."

"And the kids appreciate it."

More than 100 campers are parked on a portion of the fair grounds to house whole families during the week of fair-going. And another 600 youngsters are staying in dormitories on the fair grounds so they can participate during the week.

Other participants will commute.

Abbott said that more than 87,000 people attended last year's fair, and that he expects more.

For the youngsters, a carnival will be on the grounds.

Health group selects directors

The Southwest Wayne County Mental Health Association — a newly organized group with the goal of obtaining comprehensive services for an area now lacking them — has adopted bylaws and elected a temporary Board of Directors.

The organization represents the cities of Taylor, Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Huron, Van Buren and Sumpter, and includes persons involved with existing mental-health provider agencies, as well as community delegates.

Dorothy Rush of Huron Township was named president of a 21-member interim board, elected July 23. She also serves on boards or planning groups of United Community Services, Family and Neighborhood Services and the United Foundation.

Other board officers are Alton Shelly, director of the Romulus Center of Family and Neighborhood Services, as vice-president; Kenneth Kihir, of the City of Taylor Community Development Department staff, as recording secretary; Jean Smith, director of children's services for the Downriver Guidance Clinic, as corresponding secretary, and John Morgan, teacher in the Romulus school system, as treasurer.

In addition to the officers, community board members include John McKinney of Huron, Mary Hatten of Romulus, Crystal Harris and Bertha Payne of Sumpter, Sane Irwin and Beverly Runge of Taylor, and Margaret Gollwitzer and Betty Harkai of Van Buren — Belleville.

Provider agency board members are Edward Clark of the Hegira Therapeutic Day Care Center, William Hall of the Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital, Carl Hollis of the Communities United for Action, Leonard Melnick of the Romulus Help Center, Margaret Prentiss of the Van Buren public schools, Phyllis San to of the North-western Guidance Clinic, Kenneth Strzalka of the United Community Services and Russell Tuttle of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority.

An annual meeting and election will be held next month to name board members who will serve 1, 2 and 3-year terms.

The association will be drafting proposals for funding a community mental health program aimed at providing or expanding the 12 kinds of service deemed essential by federal authorities: Those services are: — Crisis intervention, outpatient psychiatric clinics, partial hospitalization for mental-health therapy, in-patient services, consultation and education, comprehensive services for children, services for the elderly, aftercare services for patients released from state hospitals, screening to identify patients entering state hospitals and relating to courts, police and other referring agencies, specialized service programs in relation to community residences for former institution patients, alcohol-abuse patients and drug-abuse services.

Mrs. Rush stressed that concerned residents of the five communities involved are invited to become members of the Southeast Wayne County Mental Health Association.

"Our hope is to design the best program possible for our area, a program that will tie into existing services and augment them, as well as providing the services now lacking and so badly needed in this section of Wayne County," she added.

Further information may be obtained by calling Shelly at 941-9590 during the day or Mrs. Rush at 782-3715 evenings.

Two residents explain good trip experience

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Ent.-Roman Staff

To some persons, motorcycle riding is one good way to "raise hell" and become a terror to the countryside. But to two area men, the motorcycle was their means to learn about what is good in people.

Samuel Kennedy, 22, of Sumpter Township and Scott Reiner, 20, of Romulus, recently returned from a 2-week cross country jaunt which helped them learn more about their nation.

"It was a real experience in terms of both the people we met, and the places we saw," Kennedy said. "It was one of the more rewarding things of my life."

Kennedy, a graduate of Airport High School in Carlton and a worker at the General Motors Corp. Truck and Coach Division in Van Buren Township, had been planning a trip to Colorado — the first extended tour of his life.

He enlisted the company of Reiner to make that trip, and ended up meeting two others who journeyed together to California.

"There are just too many things to describe," Kennedy said. "But I was most impressed with the people out west, who showed an outstanding amount of friendship to us on our way."

"That was the real experience — to meet people."

When the group met a man who introduced himself as "Dutch," they were offered a ride on a boat in Utah.

"We would have taken it, but didn't have the time," Kennedy said. "But I intend to write back, because he proved to be a pretty nice person."

"Offering the ride was just a way to be friendly." Riding the motorcycles was not as rough as most would expect, according to Kennedy.

"In fact, it's probably the best way there is to travel and remain somewhat close to nature while you're at it," he said. "There's nothing to rival the feeling and smell of the clean air as you ride. 'There's just no other way to go.'"

Kennedy said that because he and his companions, including John Beale of Ann Arbor and another friend from Wisconsin, Elmer Sparks, were riding motorcycles they took precautions not normally taken by cross-country travelers.

The longest stint on the bikes came the last day out, when they left Wyoming at 9 a.m. July 11 and arrived in Michigan at 11 p.m. July 12.

That proved to be the worst leg of the trip, since rain which was absent during the previous 5,800 miles began to fall during the final 200 miles on I-94 into Romulus.

Police arrest persons during political party

Nine persons, including five juveniles, were arrested for being drunk and disorderly — a misdemeanor offense — at a picnic organized by the Trout Team political group and the Romulus Democratic Club.

A spokesman for the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol said that the nine were arrested between 5:30 and 6 p.m. when a fight broke out at Liberty Park in Huron Township.

"It was the kind of thing where the participants got a little too drunk and the hot weather seemed to incite them," said the spokesman. "But there were no weapons at the scene and no injuries."

"It was nothing heavy." Ten officers of the Sheriff's Department and supporting units from the Huron Township Police were called to the scene.

The nine persons were arrested and released on a $25 bond each pending a hearing on the charges. One of the party's sponsors, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt, said that 1,600 persons attended the outdoor party, and despite the disturbance, he termed the party a "success".

He added that the party wasn't designed to raise funds for the Troutt Team effort in September and November, and that the rally cost both the Democrats and the Troutt Team campaign fund money to run. No figures are available yet on how much the rally cost each group.

Candidates to compete in Romulus golf outing

A "new twist" is being added to the annual Romulus City Golf Outing as candidates for public office join into foursomes to test their skill at the sport.

The "candidates challenge match" is the brainchild of Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar, who has nothing to lose either on the golf course or in the upcoming primary and general election.

Though he's hoping for some stiff competition on the links, Folmar has nothing to lose in the election, since he's unchallenged.

He said the brainstorm just popped into his head one day as he drove home from work.

"What better way is there to generate interest," Folmar said. "The candidates are the people of the moment in Romulus, and they all would want to participate in this community event."

"So they've all been challenged."

Folmar believes that the Romulus outing is something more than a day-long party on the Shady Hollow Golf Course at Wayne and Wick roads this year.

"Proceeds from the event will go to the fire department for equipment purchases and training," Folmar said. "So the people are doing more than golfing, they're helping their community."

The clerk, who is the project chairman, is hoping for 200 participants. Each will pay $20 for a day of unlimited golfing, all the food they can eat and unlimited refreshments.

Folmar became chairman of the event after it

Welcome President

The following editorial was published in the Berlin edition of "welt am sonntag" (The World on Sunday) by Ernst Cramer.

Welcome Mr. President: Welcome to Germany, Gerald Ford. Your stay in Bonn is a stage on the journey to Helsinki. There you will be signing a new Europe charter. Consequently your visit almost automatically recalls the days of Potsdam exactly 30 years ago.

At that time Harry Truman signed a document which was to mark the end of the second world war in Europe. There was talk in it of punishing the guilty, but also of humanity and the creation of democratic conditions in East and West.

Truman signed this agreement in good faith. But soon he saw that his co-signator Stalin interpreted the protocols quite differently from what the spirit and the letter of the agreement implied. You too, Mr. President, will sign in good faith. But you, too, will be duped, you and all the other representatives of free countries who sign in Helsinki.

Molotov first threw the project of a "conference for security and cooperation" into the international debate in January 1954, at the meeting of the foreign ministers in Berlin. Since then the Soviets, despite many changes in the personalities involved, have pursued this aim with admirable persistence. For the Kremlin Helsinki is the de facto ratification of all its conquests in the war and since the war.

Solzhnitsyn calls it the recognition of the enslavement of eastern Europe. If Potsdam all was left open, now even the Brezhnev doctrine is internationally sealed — which is how the East Bloc propaganda will exploit the signatures of Helsinki.

But this still is not enough. Quite unlike the west, the Soviets — agreement or no agreement — reserve the right to continue their activities in the countries of Europe which still are free.

Portugal is an acute example. An example for longer-term plans is again and again Berlin, where, scarcely by chance, the fundamental rights of the western powers to be there are at this very time being called into doubt on the most various levels. The most recent target on propaganda is the free access to Berlin over the allied air corridors.

In spite of all: Welcome, Mr. President. Today the Germans count among America's staunchest friends throughout the world. You can have more confidence in that than in Brezhnev's signature in Helsinki.

Why is the interest rate so shockingly high?

Applied for loan lately? If so, you probably were shocked by the size of interest rates.

What can be done to get the rates down? Well, there are two schools of thought on that. One group says the answer is to print more money. The other group says the answer is to print less money.

The reason for this slight divergence of opinion is that money probably is the only commodity which can increase in cost both when there's less of it and when there's more of it.

By now, you're probably as confused as the typical congressman. Read on, and I'll try to untangle things.

It's easy to understand why interest rates go up when money is scarce, or tight. When borrowers want more money than lenders are willing to part with at a given interest rate, then some borrowers will offer to pay a higher rate to get what they need. By this process, the price of money — its interest rate — is bid up, just like an auction.

When the cost of borrowing money goes up, less of it is borrowed. People put off buying new cars or houses or appliances. Businessmen put off expansion plans. The economy slows down.

Since an economic slowdown usually causes unemployment, tight money is politically unpopular. Whenever interest rates go up far enough to pinch, there are calls in Congress for the Federal Reserve System to ease up and make more money available (that is, create new money). In theory, such an increase in the money supply should bring down the interest rate. But that theory hasn't been working very well in practice lately, because of inflation.

Understanding the relationship between inflation and interest rates is important for all of us today — especially those in Congress.

This relationship is not at all difficult to see if you put yourself in the place of the lender: Suppose your brother-in-law wants to borrow $100 from you for one year, at a simple interest rate of 5 percent. At the end of the year, you would hope to get back your original $100, plus an extra $5 for your service to the borrower.

But, wait a minute. If inflation for that year is 10 percent, then the $100 you get back will no longer be worth $100 in terms of what it will buy — it will be worth $90. So, even with the extra $5 in interest, you still will have lost $5.50 on the deal. (The $5 in interest also has depreciated to $4.50).

How long would you be willing to go on making loans on that basis? Not long, I'll bet. What you'd do is add an inflation premium to the interest rate, to compensate you for what you expect to lose. In the case of our example, if you wanted to make 5 percent in real terms, you'd have to charge the borrower 15 percent. And that, my friends, is how inflation raises interest rates.

(Interest rates also vary with the degree of risk foreseen by the lender. Your brother-in-law might have to pay a higher rate than General Motors. But such charges vary with the individual borrower, and are not much affected by inflation).

So what's wrong with the fed expanding the money supply to lower interest rates? Well, by now most of us know that inflation is caused when the money supply increases faster than the supply of goods and services. When the fed creates a lot of new money to ease interest rates, it also aggravates inflation. And inflation raises interest rates. That's the trap.

As Treasury Secretary William Simon said early this year: "Each time we lose a bout with inflation, interest rates are ratcheted higher. In 1966 rates on long-term corporate bonds peaked at a little over 6 percent, in 1970 they reached almost 10 percent, and last year the high was 12 percent."

If the credit needs of the federal government were not so great, there would be more money available at lower rates for private borrowers — without the need to print worthless dollars to satisfy the demand.

For all of us, that's a matter of great interest.

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Wake up citizens!

To the editor: Citizens of Romulus, it soon will be city election time again. And what this means is that you look at the record of the incumbent people running for re-election and those seeking to replace them.

Look at the record and background of each candidate. Just being a member of a slate is not sufficient for election.

You want someone who will represent you and any problems you may have, although he or she may not always be able to help you with that problem. But, too often, we Americans let the other people decide the election for us. How? We don't read the literature printed up on each candidate, be it their own or in the newspaper. No! We take the literature passed out at the polls and vote the way we are told.

Romulus, Wake Up! And vote for who you think will best represent you and the community. That means voting in the primary as well as the general election.

See you there.

Forum explained

By LUCY WIESEND
Ent. - Roman Editor

Apparently some candidates in the Romulus primary election still are a bit confused about the election issue forum appearing on the front page of The Romulus Roman, a sister paper to The Belleville Enterprise.

At least one candidate missed a question addressed to council candidates in the forum because he was on vacation, but other candidates seem to be missing their chance to let Romulus voters know what they stand for because they are not reading the newspaper.

All we ask is that each week the candidates read our paper to find out who should come in to get a question in the issue forum. The purpose of the forum is to treat each candidate as equally as possible, by giving them the same opportunity to address different issue questions.

Each week in the Editor's Note which runs with the election issue forum, an explanation of which candidates are to come in for the next question is printed. For example, by noon today (Wednesday) the next question was made available to Romulus council candidates. They are to return their answer in writing by noon Monday (Aug. 18) to have their ideas included in next week's edition (Aug. 20).

The last question which we will ask the candidates before the primary will be an all-encompassing one, which will allow each candidate to summarize the issues.

Following is a brief explanation of the forum, for those who have missed reading our newspaper in the last three weeks.

Although The Roman will be accepting press releases from candidates, we will not be publishing them as such. Those releases will be used at our own discretion.

We will be tossing issue questions at the candidates each week and allowing them equal space in this newspaper to address those issues. Each Wednesday at noon, The Roman will prepare an issue question which we would like the candidates to answer in writing. A copy of the question will be available at noon Wednesday at either the Associated Newspaper office in the City of Wayne, 35540 Michigan Ave. or The Enterprise-Roman office in Belleville, 116 Fourth Street.

The questions will not be mailed or given on the telephone, candidates must pick them up in person.

The statements must be returned to either office by noon the following Monday.

If a candidate misses the deadline, his answer will not be published.

While we reserve the right to decide which questions will be asked in this issue forum, we will accept suggestions from candidates and residents of Romulus. Anyone with questions about their new political forum, should call Editor Lucy Wiesend at 729-4000.

We reserve the right to omit material from, edit and rewrite all political press releases and the answers to questions in the issue forum. While we will be held accountable for the accuracy of our stories, we will not answer to a candidate who is upset because we did not publish his words exactly the way he wanted.

THE MICHIGAN BIG STORY

The Enterprise-Roman is committed to bringing the Bicentennial closer to our readers. And as part of that effort, a series, "The Michigan Big Story," will be published weekly. The 76-part series includes topics which contributed to the shaping and direction of the State of Michigan. The impact which this series is certain to have will provide a legacy for future generations of readers as they look back on what we did to celebrate the Bicentennial in Michigan, according to the Michigan Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The series is being prepared by the commission.

JACKSON (JULY 6, 1854) — A new political coalition calling itself the Republican Party was established here today, illustrating conclusively the power of anti-slavery feeling in Michigan.

About 1,500 influential citizens from a variety of parties and factions — Free Democrats, Free Soilers, Whigs and others — gathered here for the birth of the new party.

Despite their differences of opinion in the past, all were held together by a common threat — opposition to slavery and its spread elsewhere in the nation.

The turnout was so enormous that it was impossible to hold the convention indoors.

Temporary chairman Levi Baxter of Jonesville, after convening the meeting in one of Jackson's largest halls, called for a recess and the convention was moved to a place called "Morgan's Forty" on Jackson's outskirts. There a platform hastily was built in a grove of oak trees and the convention reassembled.

The convention adopted a platform articulating the new party's opposition to the practice of slavery and concluded its business with the nomination of candidates for state office.

Kinsley S. Bingham of Livingston was nominated to head the ticket as the party's candidate for governor.

Bingham previously had been the Free Democrat's candidate, but that party withdrew its ticket Feb. 22 to support the new party.

Political observers here feel the future of the new Republican Party is uncertain, principally because it seems narrowly based on the single issue of anti-slavery.

However, many prominent Michigan citizens were involved in today's convention.

The party's survival appears to be dependent on how strong the anti-slavery feeling is among the citizens.

BBB will conduct seminar on warranty law

The implications of the new 1975 Consumer Product Warranty Law upon all businesses offering "warranties" or "guarantees" will be the topic of a day-long seminar Thursday, sponsored by the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit (BBB-Detroit).

The meeting, open to all area business persons, will explore the responsibilities of both manufacturer and retailer on all products manufactured after July 4, 1975 and covered under warranty. Many questions still remain regarding the law since it was enacted rapidly and took effect without clear guidelines for its implementation.

Experts from government and business will highlight the program including, Paul R. Peterson, regional director of the Federal Trade Commission; Stuart D. Willson, attorney-in-charge of Marketing for General Motors; Edward Jones, senior attorney for J. C. Penney Inc.; Harry R. Ball, Manager of Consumer Affairs Planning, Whirlpool Corp.; and Dean W. Determan, vice-president of the Standards and Practices Division of the Council of Better Business Bureaus Inc.

The program moderator will be Duane D. Freese, vice-chairman of the Dealer Policy Board of the Ford Motor Co. and board member of the BBB-Detroit.

In addition to general manufacturing and retailing operations, the new law will affect the marketing, customer service, community affairs and legal departments of firms offering warranties.

Some of the questions already raised concerning the law involve the wording of "full warranties" and "limited warranties." According to the law, retailers will be required to have available to any customer copies of warranties for any item covered, and written in clear, easily understood language. These warranties must be available before the purchase. The implications for department stores which carry thousands of items, many covered by warranty, are potentially staggering.

The inclusion of a "third party informal dispute settlement mechanism" section in the law raises additional questions regarding pre-sale agreements to handle disputes arising after the sale.

While the new law does not require companies to offer warranties or guarantees on their products, it does regulate the presentation of the terms of such warranties, if the company chooses to offer them.

Any person wishing to participate in the seminar, to be held at the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel, may make reservations by calling or writing Emery F. Gravelle, director of advertising review; BBB-Detroit, 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, 48226. The telephone number is 962-0550.

A $10 charge per person covers registration and lunch. Following the luncheon address by Peterson, opportunity will be available to submit questions to all of the seminar leaders.

Tickets on sale for golf

Tickets are available for Romulus' Second Annual Golf Outing, scheduled for Aug. 30 at the Shady Hollow Golf Course.

Tickets will be $20 per person for a day of golfing, coupled with food, drinks and prizes.

Information on the outing can be obtained by calling Leonard J. Folmar, city clerk, at 941-0666.

Tee-off times will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue into the afternoon.

Romulus City Council Candidate Charles J. Dick, Jr.

Why do I seek a seat on the City Council?

I seek a seat on the City Council because I don't like the makeup of the present council who, too often, speak for a group and not the electorate. I feel as an independent I want to represent that individual citizen and hear from him or her the desires they hold, as much as Common Cause does, of which I am a member.

What are your qualifications for handling legislative affairs for the city?

My background in community work. Past Jaycee President, Local chairman and Wayne County member Communities United for Action for executive board; Vice-Chairman Romulus City Charter Commission and past member Commercial and Industrial Development Committee. Member of team that formed Romulus Athletic Club, and chairmanned Romulus Junior Champ Track and Field Program three years. Member Romulus Homeowners Association.

Attract federal money

Legislation would fill mass transit gap

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

The Michigan Legislature has moved to plug the transportation gap created by the voters' defeat of a proposed $1.1 billion mass transportation package last year.

Both houses of the Legislature have approved a $175 million bonding program to finance new mass transit plans — particularly in southeastern Michigan — and to help faltering rail lines maintain their trackage.

Plans for the funds, if Gov. William G. Milliken approves the bonding proposals, call for work to begin on the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) 1990 transportation plan. That plan calls for construction of a major transportation corridor on Michigan Avenue into Western Wayne County.

Fully 60 percent of the funds can be spent by SEMTA not only on rapid transit systems, but also on commuter rail systems, bus systems and small mini-bus transportation schemes.

Westland and Wayne already benefit from a SEMTA-backed mini-bus set-up, organized by the Nankin Transit Authority and administered by Westland.

According to proponents of the bill, including its sponsor, State Sen. David A. Plawecki (D-12th District), the funds not only will "buy" badly needed mass transportation equipment and systems, but also will be used to obtain nearly four times its amount in federal matching grants.

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District), said the plan not only will give "badly needed transportation to senior citizens and youngsters while alleviating some of the need for automobile transportation in the future," but that it also would "bring job opportunities to an area of the county and state where the economic crunch has hit hardest."

Plawecki said he had proposed the bill because "the need for public transportation did not diminish with the defeat of the ballot proposal."

"Indeed, the rising price of gasoline and the proposed abandonment of many thousands of miles of Michigan rail trackage have made the need more pressing," he added. "However, budgetary constraints facing the state as a result of a prolonged recession have made it necessary to look for new methods of financing public transportation in Michigan."

Local officials are hoping the funds at least can be used to start work on some hoped-for improvements from SEMTA, including a rapid transit system to Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus from a stop somewhere along the Penn Central Railroad Line in Inkster, Westland and Wayne and the establishment of a commuter service along the Penn Central line.

Restraints on the bill, designed to insure that funds are spent equitably throughout Michigan, specify that no more than 60 percent of the bond proceeds may go to any one transportation authority, such as SEMTA, and that no more than 15 percent of the proceeds may go to any municipal transit operation, such as Detroit's DSR bus line.

Plans call for the bond money, which will be paid back from the ½-cent transit tax on gasoline in the state, to be used as half of the 20 percent of local matching funds for federal grants for aid to transportation.

It means local communities which qualify for federal funds, but need matching funds to obtain the money, pay only 10 percent of the cost of the program.

The bond funds would triple yearly transit allocations for the next three fiscal years, under the proposal, but after that time a majority of the funds which had been spent to subsidize transportation services in the past would be committed to retiring the bonds.

The Legislature's only answer to that dilemma, which would see between $17 and $18 million of the annual $22 million transportation allocation spent for bond retirements until 1995, is to seek an alternative means to finance transit growth in the future.

Scout picnic:
Fun for group

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park was the site of the recent annual pack picnic for members of Cub Scout Pack 82 of the Haggerty Road Elementary School of Belleville.

The youngsters enjoyed a day of games, ranging from wheelbarrow and relay races and penny scramble, to a crackers eating contest. Donations for prizes given to the winners were from several local merchants, including Hoot's Kentucky Fried Chicken, Beli-Hi Pizza and Hayward's.

Members of Den 1 receiving awards during the picnic were Webelos den leader Paul Del Guidice, Anthony McDermont, Brian McKelvey, Kurt Robertson and Roger Templeman. They netted their athletic badge. In Den 5, Joyce Robertson and Marylou Kosmalski received their den mother and assistant den mother badges respectively.

Tyrone Morgan, also of Den 5, received four silver arrows, while Mark Robison netted one gold and one silver arrow; Roy Kolver, two silver arrows, and Marty Kosmalski, one silver arrow.

Sue Smith also was presented with her den mother's badge.

On tap for the scouts last month also was a visit to the Midland drag races with their parents, while upcoming events include a Round Table for the Detroit Area Council and a round up and pack meeting, scheduled for Sept. 24.

Hopes to alleviate walkouts

Keith: Strike bill better than nothing

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

The legislator who led a task force toward finding a teacher strike bill, which would preserve children's educational opportunities each year, may not be happy with what the Legislature has passed, but thinks the proposal is better than nothing at all.

William R. Keith (D-33rd District), said the bill, now on Gov. William G. Milliken's desk, "gives children and parents in the state a basis for hope to alleviate most of the problems of teacher strikes."

Keith added that the arguments over whether teachers should suffer more economic penalties than losing two weeks of pay for striking a total of four weeks "is a vendetta between the governor and organized labor that has caused both sides to lose sight of the benefits of the bill."

"What the bill does is provide a timetable for negotiations, gives the courts power to order binding arbitration and guarantees children 170 days of education at a minimum with holidays and vacations left intact," Keith said. "That's a better set-up than children in Garden City and Crestwood had last year, when they got only 150 days of instruction and suffered delays in their education because of teacher strikes."

The representative, who comes from Garden City, and was close to the strike situation in that community last year, added: "The bill is the best that will come out of the Legislature for some time, because the Legislature won't go for all the suffering it went through during the past session in the next couple of years."

Keith said the major concern of voters in his district results from a misunderstanding created by the news media which led voters to believe teachers could be paid for striking two weeks.

"That isn't the intent of the bill," he continued. "No one gets paid for striking."

"What the two week pay provision means is that there is leeway in the timetables which allows flexibility enough for the school year to be extended by two weeks — until June 18 — providing children with a full 180 days of instruction on a slightly elongated school year."

"The teachers still will work, and the kids will have to go a little longer, but it won't be like the July 1 closing dates seen in some school districts."

"Under the provisions of the bill, school must open by the end of September and can go no longer than June 18."

Hydrant painting popular

Response to the Romulus Beautification Commission's request for individuals interested in painting fire hydrants is running high.

According to Sandra Taylor, Beautification Commission chairman, demands for paint to decorate hydrants has been going up the past two weeks.

"Articles and pictures run in The Romulus Roman appear to have aroused the public's interest," Mrs. Taylor said. "People are calling from all areas of the community to request paint."

The Beautification Commission will furnish paint to residents interested in decorating hydrants in an artistic motif.

Information on the program can be obtained by calling Mrs. Taylor at 941-5832.

"Even if a strike continued until the end of September, 170 days of instruction would be guaranteed each student in

State funds ready

Several school districts in the Belleville-Romulus community will be sharing more than $13 million in state aid.

The total state aid payment will be $13,423,370, with several school districts benefitting from some $627,525 in federal funds.

The Huron School district will collect $482,200, while the Romulus Community School District will receive $323,420, and the Van Buren Public School District, $332,100.

Allotment of Title I money, under the Elementary - Secondary Education Act of 1965 gave Huron, the sole recipient in the Belleville-Romulus Community, $23,000.

Under the Vocational Education Act, Romulus, also a sole recipient, collected $3,816.

that district, and some form of a contract settlement would be reached."

Keith said that pressure is on from the Michigan Education Association for Gov. Milliken to veto the bill, because it limits the teacher union's right to strike, a right it contends it had, despite a law to the contrary in the past.

But the Michigan AFL-CIO, which includes the state's largest teacher union local — the Detroit Federation of Teachers — has urged signing of the bill.

"The large labor organization realizes that it is its members' children who have been getting the shaft under past strike laws," Keith said. "It wants the situation corrected to insure that AFL-CIO members' children receive education."

"That is important."

He added that as a parent in the Garden City School District, he realizes his children had difficulties during the 1974 Garden City strike.

"I only know that kids in my school district would have been better off with this bill than they were without it last year," he said.

The legislator added that the present bill includes a "safety valve," if adopted.

"It lasts only two years, meaning that it must be reviewed," Keith said. "If the worst happens and it doesn't prove to be a benefit, then the Legislature can work on a better method."

Romulus rec makes up score of rain-outs

Perfect weather enabled the Romulus Parks and Recreation's women's softball league to make up a score of rain-outs. And the Foul Balls got things going as they thwarted the Rookies 14-6. Jan Frennel, Kathy Rollins and Pheobe McIsaar paced the winner's attack at the plate, while the Rookies received its power from Peggy Coleman who homered, Sally Carroll and Mary Lawson. All had three hits.

The 2001 came out on top of a 11-5 score with the Denim Dolls in their makeup game. Anne Szyndlar collected three hits, Rose Silvey and Lori Hadyniak each had two for the winners.

Tammy Kitchens and Debbie Shallow stroked run-scoring hits for the losers. Sandy Paquin picked up a double and two singles while Connie Cox singled and doubled.

In a thriller, the Tarantulas edged the Hustlers 8-7 with Mark Dziedzic leading the attack. Miss Dziedzic cracked a homer and collected three RBI's and teammate Sue Kramer also homered and contributed three hits.

The Hustlers stayed in the game thanks to the effort of Telly Magreat who homered and Jeannie Daneals who carded a couple of base hits. Nancy Wilkerson counted three singles for her day's work.

The Chocolate City raced past the New Streakers 19-5. The winners used a balanced hitting attack which featured Pam Morrison, Rhonda Peters, Joey Kersey and Rhonda Warren each with five hits. Dawn Silva's three hits were wasted by the Streakers who also received two hits apiece from Debbie Stewart and Anne Claxton.

The 69'ers overpowered SWAT 15-10 as Carlene Cole got some wood on the ball and drilled a 3-run homer. Barbara Fortune and Kelly Deline split four doubles between them.

In the Eastern Division, the "Spirit of '76" lost that winning spirit to Kid Power which cooled their rivals 19-3. Pricilla Gray's grand slam home run highlighted the victory. Sister Tareia chipped in four hits and Tammy Wilson, who also homered for the winners, counted four hits.

Shirley Silvey 2-run triple, Peggy Summerfield and Sylvia Dubisky's with two hits each, paced the losers.

The Key-Joys lived it up with a 13-12 victory over the Airline Bombers.

Cindy Nixon and Sharon Wilson combined for four of the Kel-Joys' hits and teammate Sandy Selle and Diana Mach came through with three each.

Margie Silvey hammered two homers for the Bombers. The losers also got a couple of hits from Janet Slater, Janie Slater, Debbie Sanders and Pam Wyzkowski.

The Odd Squad shut out the Electric Warriors 14-0 as Marlene Farago and Debbie Wilcox supplied the hitting power with three each. Janeal Eberline looked good on defense as she counted five putouts. Sherry Adams' two singles led the losers.

Margaret Ayers, Debbie Owens and Eleanore Ayers each checked in with one hit apiece.

The Seekers outplayed the Bulls 6-1 with Terry Druyer, Judy Bieldy and Georgeanne Stasik providing the key hits.

Joyce McLeod, Carol Skura, Pearl Hall and Pat Kulziecki starred for the losers.

The Buzz Troop marched past Our Gang, 9-2, as Joanne Adair's four hits paved the way. Diana Williams, Debbie Delarose and Connie Deirham each had three hits.

Alison Ziembowicz saw her three hits wasted for Our Gang. Judy Fowler and Audrey Johnson swatted two hits each for the losers.

In another close one, the Shakers edged the Whiz Kids 11-10 as Cindy Groh, Rhonda Stokley and Janie Houston were the difference in the victory.

Champions

The 1975 Angels, sponsored by Walter Hink, captured the American League championship with a record of 16-2. The team ended the season with a victory over the National League champion Dodgers, to become the No. 1 team in the Belleville Little League farm system. The team, managed by Charles McRitchie and assisted by Melvin Mills, includes Kenny Speaks, David Tyler, Mike Andrews, Hank Harrington, Mike Marsh, Jimmy Adams, Brian Purdy, Rodney McRitchie, Daniel Fournier, Thom Ley, Brian Simon, David Kreinbring, Eric Ley and Jerry Mills.

Local man gets U-D athletic post

A Romulus man, Jack Moores, Jr., a part-time athletic trainer at the University of Detroit (U-D) for the past three years, has been named head athletic trainer at the U-D.

Moores, 34, will be working with all U-D athletic teams — cross country, fencing, basketball and baseball — beginning Aug. 15. He also will serve as the university's director of advertising.

"We are very pleased that Jack will be continuing on our staff and that the university has been able to make him a member of their overall staff," said U-D Athletic Director Bob Calihan. "He has done an outstanding job in his part-time capacity and we are looking for even better things now that he will be at the university on a full-time basis."

Moores, who graduated this spring from U-D, has worked in the physical therapy department of Riverside Osteopathic Hospital for the past several summers. His work has included organization of an annual athletic injuries seminar attended by area coaches.

How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

If you see ground fog in a field beside the road, chances are that you will soon run into a patch on the road itself. Slow down, and be ready to turn your lights on. Even if they do not help you to see, your tail-lights will help the driver behind you keep track of your position. Never use your high beams. The droplets of water will reflect the light and bounce it back into your eyes, severely reducing your vision. Use your windshield wipers to keep your window clean.

Keep your car in top condition so that you can handle any road emergency. At KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, we handle all parts and accessories for foreign and domestic parts. Called the "House of a Million Parts," we carry just about everything you need to keep your car, American or foreign, running at its best. 10b. Motion by Oakley, supported by Coleman, that Council adopt Resolution 75-589 (Opposition of House Bill 5250):

RESOLUTION 75-589

WHEREAS: The United States Constitution, the Constitution of the State of Michigan, and the many City Charters in the State require that certain positions in those various corporations necessary for the efficient operation thereof be attained through the elective process, this requirement founded on the very basic principal defined by the democratic process; and

WHEREAS: These various positions are designed to provide leadership in the various corporations of the State, it provides the position of Governor, Secretary of State, State Senators, State Representatives, provides for Mayors, Clerks, Councilpersons, these persons are entrusted with the public welfare and, upon their entrance to office, take an oath to work towards this end; and

WHEREAS: It is the responsibility of these same individuals to assure that the trust placed therein not be abused; and

WHEREAS: This dedication to duty has without question waived in sporadic offices and communities throughout the State; and

WHEREAS: The public trust has been shaken by this sporadic abuse by certain public officials; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus recognizes the need to provide additional guidelines to protect the public against the would be unscrupulous public official; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus concurs with the efforts by the State to provide these guidelines, but the City would like to call to your attention certain dangers which we have identified as we continue to review proposed legislation, specifically, House Bill No. 5250 and Senate Bill No. 880:

1) The City of Romulus is fearful that the Finance Disclosures required by House Bill No. 5250 would impose an insurmountable barrier to many solid citizens, thereby preventing their involvement in the elective process - net result is a loss to the entire community.

2) Reporting procedures appear cumbersome and over abundant. It would appear to the City that the same result could be accomplished by utilizing fewer reports and/or forms.

3) That the monitoring responsibilities be disbursed to the Secretary of State, who would have the authority to utilize the various County and City Clerks for investigative purposes as opposed to establishing a new commission to accomplish the same duties currently being performed by these officials.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus that it does herewith implore the State Senate and the House of Representatives to very carefully and realistically review its proposed campaign reform legislation and that it be amended so as not to preclude individuals from becoming part of the elective process, so as not to require utilization of tons of paper when the same result can be attained through more limited processes, and, finally, not to create a million dollar department to accomplish the duties currently being performed by the Secretary of State and County and Municipal Clerks.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Faust, Representatives Mahalak and Owen, the Michigan Municipal League, the Senate Committee on Municipalities and Elections, the House Committee on Elections, and all surrounding communities within Wayne County.

WHEREAS: Public Act 116 of 1954, as amended, requires that there be held in the State a Presidential Preferential Primary Election; and

WHEREAS: The authority for the conduct of that election is placed with the Secretary of State, and

WHEREAS: The Presidential Preferential Primary Election does not provide any appreciable benefit to the individual citizens of the State of Michigan and most pointedly the various subdivisions of the State; and

WHEREAS: These individual subdivisions have historically assumed the cost for the administration of the various elections held for the electing of State and County Representatives; and

WHEREAS: The economic conditions of the economy sets the stage for the individual subdivisions inherent opposition to the assumption of any additional budgetary responsibilities; and

WHEREAS: The State of Michigan set the precedent in the 1972 Presidential Preferential Primary by its funding; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus, are charged with the responsibility of financing this election, as well as, the responsibility of fiscal control have determined that the holding of this Presidential Preferential Election will impose an impractical, if not impossible, financial obligation.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby set forth its unaltered opposition to the local financing of a 1976 Presidential Preferential Primary.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby implore the State of Michigan to appropriate necessary funds to defray the cost to conduct the 1976 Presidential Preferential Primary.

Red Cross meets needs during disasters

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Enterprise-
Roman Staff

Fire, flood and tornado are words that bring a tingle of fear to most individuals. The emergency situations can't be avoided, but some of the panic and desperation that come with the situation can be helped by persons trained to cope with them.

Western Wayne County is one of the areas that has a Disaster Action Team, trained by the Red Cross and made up of volunteers in a program geared to community people helping other residents.

"In many cases the local volunteer can step in and take immediate action," said Henry Maurer, associate director of Disaster Services for the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross Disaster Action Team is planned to place trained volunteers and equipment at the scene of a disaster within minutes of its occurrence and to provide immediate, identifiable service to disaster victims and workers.

The team also paves the way for the mobilization of other chapter and national Red Cross resources that may be required, according to Red Cross spokesmen.

Typical of the volunteers are Rod and Mary Deyo of 37145 Gilchrist, Westland. "I had a Girl Scout Troop and needed some Red Cross training," Mrs. Deyo said. "One thing led to another and now we are more and more involved in the Red Cross program." Deyo, who became in-

Green, yellow setting for Ladd-Milton rite

Green and yellow half fans of carnations and candelabras served as the setting for the marriage rite of Patricia Diane Ladd to Mac Allen Milton at St. Paul Lutheran Church of New Boston recently.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Ladd of 47196 McBride, chose a gown of silk organza and Spanish lace for the afternoon ceremony.

The long-sleeved, high necklined dress was in a candlelight (ivory) color with an empire waistline, full train and overlay in the front. Designed by the bride, its lace was a gift from her godmother and aunt, Fernando Villafraña, and came from old Mexico.

She carried a bouquet of onered rose with a touch of baby's breath and greenery and she was escorted down the aisle by her father.

The new Mrs. Milton's maid of honor was her only sister, Laurie Marie Ladd, who wore a gown of nile green organza with a sweetheart neckline. The full-length dress featured short full, belled sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, green tint, and green streamers.

Her bridesmaid, Mrs. Larry Classen of Belleville, wore a gown similar to the maid of honor's, but in yellow, and carried a bouquet of yellow tinted carnations and yellow streamers.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Marlow Milton and the late Mr. Mac Milton of Belleville.

Serving as his best man was his brother, Norman O. Herwerth of Detroit, with Ronnie Toncheff of Belleville, a friend, carrying out the duties of usher.

Also attending the rite was the bride's mother who wore an apricot polyester crepe, sleeveless, full-length gown and white accessories. The mother of the groom chose a shrimp pink polyester crepe, full-length gown that was gathered at the bodice with a rhinestone pin. Mrs. Ladd was presented with a corsage of yellow roses, while Mrs. Milton wore a corsage of white roses.

The reception, given by the groom's mother, was held at her Jackson Street home and included 75 guests. On hand for the reception were Milton's two grandmothers, Edith Hale of Melvindale and Mabel Shedell of Belleville, both 82.

After a short honeymoon trip, the newlyweds took up residence in Belleville. The new Mrs. Milton is a 1975 graduate of Belleville High School. Her husband is a 1974 Belleville High graduate and is employed at the K-Mart Store in Belleville.

Resident marries in African town

The daughter of a member of the Sumpter Township Board of Trustees and police commissioner for the community, recently exchanged her wedding vows in a ceremony held in Monrovia, Liberia, Africa.

Juanteen Folks Diane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Folks of Sumpter, married Amadou Diane in a Moslem rite in the African community.

The new Mrs. Diane chose her sister's birthday, July 18, for the rite. A resident of New York, she teaches the eighth grade in the New York school system.

Her husband is an art dealer, specializing in Africa artifacts and imports, with his main offices in New York.

The newlyweds are expected to visit Sumpter volved because his wife doesn't drive and he had to chauffeur her to training sessions, has become a trainer — instructor and has taken on more extensive emergency situation training, while his wife is an instructor.

Another Disaster Action Team volunteer, Mrs. Madeline K. Lester of 4089 Vicksburg Court, Inkster, got involved through her work with senior citizens in her community.

"I'm always looking for valuable information to help my people (the senior citizens) keep on top of things, so I'm always contacting speakers, sending for pamphlets and information materials, and I learned about this and got in on it," Mrs. Lester said.

Others had similar or differing reasons for getting involved with the Disaster Action Team, but all are ready to serve if the need arises in their community. Each also is hopeful the true reason for the training never comes about because none are "Glory seekers," the spokesmen added.

In addition to the Deyos and Mrs. Lester, other trained persons are Evelyn Hale of 41021 Old Michigan Avenue, Wayne; Russell A. Lincoln of 33410 Bendon, Westland; Martin Rock, 1049 Colonial Dr., Inkster; Carol Walker, 6737 Wayne Road, Westland; Phillip and Edith Neal, 7180 Burton, Romulus; George A. Heifner, 41527 Edison Lake Road, Belleville, and Bert G. Smith, 41435 Edison Lake Road, Belleville.

The teams are composed from three to six members who have completed the required training which includes Red Cross standard and advanced first aid; introduction to Red Cross, Disaster Services, team responsibilities and functions. The volunteers also are required to take periodic refresher courses.

In-service training in survey, mass feeding, shelter, communications and the giving of individualized assistance also are part of the training.

Western Wayne County has help at hand, with the trained disaster volunteers at "ready" to work with the other trained personnel of the police and fire departments and other official organizations in the community where the blow might fall, a spokesman added.

Counted thread embroidery: Subject of YWCA program

The YWCA of Western Wayne County as part of its contribution to the nation's Bicentennial observance will be teaching a course in counted thread embroidery this fall.

Taught by Renate Sprinsted of Dearborn, the handicraft of Danish origins has not been taught in the United States since the turn of the century.

Students taking the 10-session course at the YWCA will learn the stitches as well as the history of the art as they create a Christmas table runner.

Mrs. Sprinsted came to the United States in 1962, armed with a Journeyman's Examination Certificate from the Ladies Handcraft Guild of Bad Segeberg, Germany.

Since coming to this country she has received recognition as qualified to teach embroidery in keeping with the standards of the Embroiderers Guild of America.

Since the instruction will be on a personalized basis, class enrollment will be limited to a small number on a first registration basis. The 10-week session, which will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 Tuesdays, costs $14 plus $8 for materials.

To register, contact the YWCA at 561-4110, or at its headquarters at 26279 Michigan Avenue.

Grecas hold reunion

The Don Greca family of Belleville were only four members short of capturing the honor of the largest contingent at the 49th annual Greca reunion in Piconning, Mich.

The Grecas were beat out for the honor by the Jerome Chapp family of New Boston who garnered 26 members for attending the reunion.

Held Aug. 2, the reunion attracted family members from as far away as Orlando, Fla., Atlanta, Ga., and Tuscon, Ariz.

Made up of trailers and motor campers, the Greca clan headed up to the northern portion of the Lower Penninsula on Aug. 1 to enjoy the fun and festivities at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Kleinhaus.

On Aug. 2, the family gathering sampled a familystyle smorgasbord dinner, followed by a prayer meeting at the Mt. Forest Hall.

Annual honors went to Joe Greca of St. Helen, Mich., the oldest member attending the gathering, and Kristin Greca, the youngest attending. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Greca of Saline.

The families traveling the farthest were the John Dennons of Arizona, the Bob Genges of Florida, and the Phil Grecas of Georgia. The latter family was enroute to their new residence in Kansas where Capt. Phil Greca will be stationed as part of his stint in the armed forces.

Following the family meeting, games for all those attending were staged. Topping the list was the annual married and single's mens baseball game. Children's races and the married and single's mens rope pull also were on tap to keep the participants busy.

For the first time in the history of the rope pull, the married men mustered enough strength to defeat their adversaries. The women joined in to help out in the pull to give the single men some added weight, but the end result was broken rope, resulting in dunking in the pond for the participants.

Activities for the women at the reunion included bingo and the annual couple's egg throwing contest, followed by music and dancing.

Plans for the 50th annual Greca reunion already are in the works.

Griffiths host student

A 17-year-old German student will be finding a new family in the Belleville community later this month when she arrives for a 1-year student exchange program.

Britta Pohl will become a member of the Floyd Griffith family and will attend Belleville High School with daughter Anne. They live on Merle Court.

A participant in Youth for Understanding, headquartered in Ann Arbor, Miss Pohl will "bring an international experience to her family, school and community, especially during our Bicentennial year," according to Mrs. James O'Day, a representative of the organization.

"She will experience first hand the American way of life while sharing her culture with those around her," she added.

Host families are being sought for two additional exchange students who want to spend a year in the Belleville community. Ralph Antonetti, 17, of Caracas, Venezuela, and Maria Rosa, 17, of Brazil are the two candidates. Antonetti is interested in baseball, swimming and basketball, while Miss Rosa enjoys friends, television and movies.

Under the Youth for Understanding program, the host family welcomes the students into their homes and provides them with the necessities, such as food and housing. They do not bear any financial burden, since the students provide their own spending money and health insurance, Mrs. O'Day said.

Families interested in hosting a foreign exchange student can contact Mrs. O'Day at 1325 Park Place, Plymouth, or by calling 453-4295.

YWCA readies for preschoolers

Openings still are available for preschoolers 3-5 years old, to enroll in the YWCA of Western Wayne County Nursery program for the fall semester. The nursery operates from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Three year olds attend Monday and Wednesday; 4 year olds Tuesday and Thursday and both ages on Friday. Children may be enrolled for two mornings each week. Mothers or fathers assist the teacher twice each semester.

The program is planned as a well rounded development experience, including free play centered on small and large muscle coordination and peer interaction as well as story time, games, art, music and occasional trips.

The nursery, located in the new YWCA at 26279 Michigan Avenue between Beech Daly and John Daly, operates in compliance with all regulations and standards of the State of Michigan. YWCA membership for one year is $3.50 and nursery fees are $1 per session payable by the semester. For applications call 561-4110 or stop by the building.

The nursery begins the week of Sept. 5. A parent orientation session is scheduled for Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. to meet teacher, Audrey Wasserman, and learn what to expect from the nursery experience.

For 10 Tuesday afternoons from 1-2 p.m. beginning Sept. 23 Audrey Wasserman has designed a tot's art class for preschoolers and their parents. Mom or dad will attend and participate so that they will be prepared to continue the creative experience at home Mrs. Wasserman has planned experimentation with texture, wood, paints, puppets, color and collage.

The 10 sessions will be $14 for the family. Call the YWCA at 561-4110 or come to the YWCA Western Wayne County 26279 Michigan Ave., between Beech Daly and John Daly to enroll.

What is the greatest asset we have in our town? Industry? Business? Homes? Money? Possessions? Take your choice from this sort of list, or any similar list, and you will have made a wrong selection.

Time and again it has been shown in every town that the greatest asset is friendly people. Friends and neighbors differ in type of course. Some are solemn, serious. Others are cheerful, entertaining. Some are frivolous. Most are hopeful, sincere. Every town of course has some evil people. Spiteful people. They are FEW however, compared with the helpful, kindly, neighborly, dependable type. The sympathetic, merciful, considerate people try to keep friendships in constant repair.

Perhaps unaware of it, are not these friendly people of innate goodness demonstrating an acceptance of God's friendship? Can there possibly be any greater asset anywhere for any one?

Patio dining: Beat the heat

Everyone knows that last week's hot weather isn't the last they'll see, or live through, this summer. And for some Western Wayne County residents, surviving the mid-90-degree weather was at best trying.

The greatest trait of people suffering under hot weather is a dread for cooking. Who wants to heat up a hot house even more for a meal no one really will enjoy.

But with a little magic in the kitchen and a nice charcoal or gas fire, homemakers can rustle up a delectable dinner for the hungry horde that won't heat up the house.

Patios and porches can substitute for dining areas in the home and barbecues for hot ovens. Steaks, hot dogs, chicken, even turkey, can be part of your summer cuisine.

If you don't feel like stoking up the fire in the grill just serve a salad dinner. Lettuce, topped at serving time with cucumber and mushroom slices, ripe olives and chilled, cooked shrimp, will be a crowd pleaser.

Add your favorite dressing, or try combining two-thirds cup salad oil, 1/4 cup garlic flavored red wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon each of salt and Dijon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon finely crumbled tarragon and 1 teaspoon capers in a jar. Cover tightly, shake to blend and pour over your masterpiece.

If the family considers salads a side dish and not the main course serve them up glazed chicken, cooked on the grill.

Liberal brush two whole halved broilers with 1/2 cup salad oil and season with salt and pepper. Place them on a grill and cook for about 30 minutes. Apply a glaze, made up of 2 cans of tomato sauce, 1 cup orange marmalade, 4 tablespoons minced onion, 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice and 2 teaspoons dry mustard. Turn occasionally and continue basting with the glaze every 10 minutes or until the chicken is tender.

Add baked potatoes, cooked on the grill, some fresh corn and a cool drink, and it's one sure way to beat the heat.

Another way is a late evening dinner on a patio. Choose a time, like sunset, and plan your meal to be served as the sun and its accompanying heat bid a quick retreat. It's a fun way to enjoy your dinner and a way of getting back to nature. But don't forget the bug bomb. They like to eat, too.

All in all, a little imagination and a backyard grill can be the pathway to a summer full of cool and exotic dinner delights. Try it, and beat the heat.

Try these recipes

Don't let grilling scare you

If you're uncertain about using a grill as a "kitchen appliance" during the summer months, remember one thing: Cooking time depends on the parts you're using. The smaller the parts, the shorter the time it takes to cook them.

Pertaining to chicken, the National Broiler Council advises allowing 45 minutes to 1 1/4 hours total cooking time, depending on the weight of the chicken and distance from heat (generally 3 to 6 inches). To test for doneness, the leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and if pierced with a fork juices should run clear.

Place the bone or ribcage side of chicken down on the grill next to the heat and the bones will help act as insulators to prevent the chicken from cooking too fast. If you're using a sauce with a tomato base, don't start basting until chicken is almost done so it won't be overly brown. If an oil base sauce is used, baste during the entire cooking process.

Turn chicken occasionally while cooking.

Cooking outdoors whets the appetite; allow a half broiler-fryer per person. If any is left over, just freeze the chicken to re-heat and serve later.

Now that you know some of the dos and don'ts of outdoor cooking, try these main dish tempters:

ROAST LEG OF LAMB
Lamb traditionally is served well done in American — cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees as measured by a roast meat thermometer. Many diners now, however, are following the lead of gourmet cooks who prefer their lamb medium or rare.

A boneless leg of lamb is a fine choice for the rotisserie. It's a bit more tricky to balance a bone-in leg on the rod, but it can be done. Check balance by rotating in the palms of hands.

Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, recommends that lamb be roasted at a moderate temperature on the rotisserie over ash-covered coals or in an oven set at 325 degrees. For a 4- to 7-pound boneless leg allow 25 to 30 minutes per pound for rare; 30 to 35 for medium and 35 to 40 for well done. For a bone-in leg allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound for rare; 25 to 30 for medium and 30 to 35 for well done.

ROTISSERIE RUMP ROAST
Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of roast of about 4 or 5 pounds; secure meat on rod with holding forks so that it is balanced and turns only with rod. Insert meat thermometer making sure it does not touch rod or fat. Cook over medium-hot coals 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours or until desired degree of doneness.

GRILL-BROILED CHICKEN WITH SEASONED BUTTER BRUSH-ON
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon (1/2 envelope) garlic salad dressing mix
2 broiler-fryer chickens,

quartered
Melt butter; blend in lemon juice and salad dressing mix. Brush chicken with seasoned butter. Place on grill, cut side down, 5-6 inches from coals. Cook about 1 hour; turning and brushing with seasoned butter about every 10 minutes.

NOTE: If chicken seems to be cooking too fast, move grill further from coals or spray a little water on coals to lower heat.

And there's even more if you put your imagination into it.
